Dear Mr. Weisberg:

It was a great pleasure to get to speak with you on the telephone this past Sunday afternoon. After reading your books for so long, I felt as though I knew you already but it was really a privilege to talk about your work and how it has influenced my own.

Enclosed is my personal check for a Xeroxed copy of WHITEWASH as we discussed. Again, I would greatly appreciate it if you would autograph it for me.

As I mentioned Sunday, what you told me years ago has made all the difference in how I have since approached the material that has been written on the case. You helped me to see that those who research the case must be responsible and thorough in their work. As someone just starting out 15 years ago, I had not yet learned that lesson and since you helped me to see it, it has made all the difference. Unfortunately, not all of our colleagues have learned the same lesson, but I did learn and I thank you for it.

My best wishes to you and Mrs. Weisberg in the days ahead. The next time I am in the Washington area, I will call and if you are available I would love to come out and meet you. Again, thanks and best wishes.

Sincerely,

Richard Sullins

P.S. What is the name of the college that you told me where your papers and files will be kept?
